11. "Moonlight Room: Krista Louise Smith and Rosalind Tallmadge" at Carvalho Park, Brooklyn

Carvalho Park presents a two-person painting exhibition by Brooklyn-based artists Krista Louise Smith and Rosalind Tallmadge. Both artists present serene, monochromatic works in various shades of pale pastel, "offering a transcendent cohesion" of their styles. Dreamy pink and blue hues of the sky appear in Smith's paintings, often inspired by her travels, and particularly her recent trips to New Mexico's desert. Tallmadge's works are infused with light and glimmer, invoking geological elements through the use of materials such as fabric, mica flakes, and marble dust. The effect of them together is like "being wrapped in a serene, feminized glow," according to co-founder Jennifer Carvalho.

Location: Carvalho Park, 112 Waterbury Street, Brooklyn

Price: Free

Time: Thursday–Saturday, 12 p.m.–6 p.m.
