

Events and Parties

Editors' Picks: 16 Events for Your Art Calendar This Week, From a Virtual EXPO Chicago to a Live Performance at the Met

Plus, fall gallery shows you can see in person.

Artnet News, September 21, 2020

Through Saturday, October 10

Carvalho Park, "I Heard a Wild Flower," installation view. Courtesy of Carvalho Park.

13. "I Heard a Wild Flower" at Carvalho Park, Brooklyn

Head over to Carvalho Park in Brooklyn to check out Brian Rattiner and Keiko Narahashi's two-person show, "I Heard a Wild Flower." Rattiner's large pastel paintings, imbued with a sense of serenity found during time spent in Greece and upstate New York, stand in stark contrast with Narahashi's sculptures, which are reminiscent of Japanese minimalism. The dreamy paintings and the minimalist sculptures create a duality "in which the intangible sensations of one's complex experiences of nature materialize," according to the gallery's statement.

Location: Carvalho Park, 112 Waterbury Street, Brooklyn

Price: Free

Time: Thursday, Friday, Saturday 12 p.m.–6 p.m.

—Neha Jambhekar